Eighth graders participate in the REALL simulation that took place at Rock Port on Wednesday, September 26. The seventh through ninth grade participated. "The Reality Enrichment and Life Lessons simulation is an active, hands-on experience that challenges students to think critically about their lives through a simulation of reactive and proactive life. The participants are expected to pull from their REALL experiences and make proactive choices, so they can know self-sufficiency in adulthood," (OACAC). Though many students found the experience stressful, it gave them insight into some of the stressors and situations the adults in their lives face. Caption by Ashley Cue.

"Self-control - what lies in our power to do, it lies in our power not to do."
